

ABSTRACT

5 The present invention relates to a sign comprising two or more housings which are interlockingly connected together around a pole. Each housing has a selectively adjustable collar arrangement which can be adjusted to size to fit around the pole.